PETROGRAD BEING SURROUNDED BY DENIKINE COSSACKS; SOVIET GOVERNMENT IS FACING CRISIS

NORTHWESTERN RUSSIAN ARMY CRASHES THROUGH BOLSHEVIKI LINES; TROOPS NEAR TULA, KEY TO MOSCOW.

(By Associated Press.)

London, Oct. 15.—General Denikine's anti-bolshevik army has captured the important city of Orel, together with thousands of prisoners and enormous quantities of material, it was announced in advices received here today.

While Orel is 238 miles south of Moscow, possession of the city will give General Denikine a secure hold on vast territory in old Russia, as the place is one of the most important railway centers south of the Russian capital.

With General Denikine's Cossack army advancing from the south and the northwestern Russian army almost within striking distance of Petrograd, the soviet government of Russia appears to be facing a crisis. Bolsheviki headquarters at Petrograd were closed last Thursday.

Bolsheviki Lines Crashed
The northwestern Russian army has apparently crashed through the bolsheviki lines over a wide front. On the south the Denikine troops appear to have approached quite near the town of Tula, a city considered the key to Moscow from that side. A dispatch received here says that if Tula falls to the Cossacks, the bolsheviki commissaries will be into the hands of the Denikine and Kolchak forces in the Volga valley.

The western Russian council has urged the German authorities at Mittau, replacing them by a regime headed by a Russian government general, according to a wireless dispatch. A state of siege has been declared at Mittau. General Von Eberhart has invited the Lithuanian government to send delegates to a conference to be held at Sankany.

The Lithuanian government has accepted the invitation. The war office has issued a report, which says that all Lithuanian troops in Riga had been withdrawn to the east bank of the Dvina river, the bridges having been blown up. When the dispatch was filed the Lithuanian and German-Russians were exchanging rifle fire across the river and the section of the city still in the hands of the former was being bombed with gas shells and also with high explosive shells.

Savage Fighting in Riga
Copenhagen, Oct. 15.—Savage fighting is still going on in the city of Riga between Lithuanian and Estonian troops and the German-Russian army which entered the western part of the city last week. Many civilians have been killed.

Dispatches state that all the prisoners taken by the Lithuanians have been released. An ultimatum has been issued in Riga, in which the Lithuanian government has been asked to leave the city.

Blockade Measures are Seemingly being rigidly enforced in the Baltic. A dispatch confirms press reports that the Lithuanian government had returned to the city.

"FLYING PARSON" IS IN SALT LAKE CITY ON RETURN FLIGHT

Three Aviators Ready To Hop Off From Mineola For San Francisco.

Salt Lake City, Oct. 15.—Lieut. Belvin W. Maynard, flying eastward on the second lap of the trans-continent air derby, arrived at Beuna Vista field near here at 2:30 p. m. today, after a flight of 23 hours and 15 minutes. He is expected to resume his flight eastward after the required thirty minute rest.

Hop Off For West.
Mineola, N. Y., Oct. 15.—With Lieutenant Maynard already "off from San Francisco" in his return trip to Mineola, three of the flyers who completed the first half of the journey here were ready to "hop off" for San Francisco today if weather permitted.

Two of the three, Major Carl Spatz and Lieut. C. E. Kiel, had expressed a desire to be "off" at the time of the flight, but were not anxious to make the return.

Capt. Lowell H. Smith, also was ready this morning to start on the home-bound flight.

Fair Weather Forecast.
San Francisco, Calif., Oct. 15.—Forecasts of fair weather for most of the day, with a light breeze, are expected for the return flight of Lieut. B. W. Maynard, who is expected to arrive in San Francisco today.

DOZEN TAKEN IN GARY "RED" RAIDS TO BE PUT THROUGH INQUIRY

Alleged Radicals To Be Investigated In Connection With Bomb Plots.

[By Associated Press.]
Gary, Ind., Oct. 15.—More than a dozen men were taken into custody here during the night by military intelligence authorities in connection with the anti-government plots.

It also is said army intelligence officials are in their possession a list of several hundred alleged radicals, among whom a number are believed to be leaders in the radical movement.

Military intelligence authorities are said to have obtained clues regarding radical activities here even before Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, commander of the central army department, declared military control after the situation growing out of the steel strike got beyond state officials.

Several men including Anton Gorski, who was said to be under surveillance in connection with explosion of bombs in the Chicago postoffice in September 1918, were questioned yesterday and it was stated Alexander Ivanoff, believed to be maker of the 36 bombs used in the Chicago explosion, was being sought.

That the situation in Gary itself is believed to be under complete control of the federal soldiers was evidenced by General Wood granting permission for the first outdoor mass meeting today since he assumed command here.

Army Camp Plot Denied
Of the many reports that spread through the veil of secrecy by the military and civil authorities, after they inaugurated raids on alleged Red headquarters and meeting places and arrested suspected persons, one, that a wide-spread plot against military cantonments had been discovered, was denied officially by Colonel W. B. Mages, commanding troops here.

That drastic measures to combat Red plots uncovered have been planned was not denied. Intelligence officers conducting the raids on places suspected in the Red plots were interested in the finding of quantities of explosives, and a large silk German flag.

GOMPERS IS ILL; ARBITRATION PLAN FAILS TO GET ACTION

PRESIDENT OF A. F. L. SUFFERS NERVOUS BREAK-DOWN; INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE POSTPONES VOTE ON STEEL STRIKE PROPOSAL.

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, Oct. 15.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, is confined to his home here in a state of nervous exhaustion. His temperature this morning was 101 degrees. His physician has ordered him to remain in bed.

Announcement of Mr. Gompers' breakdown was made by his secretary when the industrial conference was adjourned. He issued the following statement:

"Mr. Gompers returned home from the industrial conference last evening greatly exhausted and went immediately to bed. His physician, Dr. Henry Parker, found Mr. Gompers in a state of nervous exhaustion, with a temperature of 101. The doctor said that it would be absolutely necessary for Mr. Gompers to remain in bed."

Mr. Gompers' illness results, labor leaders here said, in the postponement of work at home and abroad in connection with the peace treaty, the international labor congress at Amsterdam and the steel strike.

The veteran labor leader was stricken after delivering an attack in the industrial conference on the United States Steel corporation, which he believed to be the cause of the steel strike committee. His friends recalled that the day was the first anniversary of the death of his daughter and they said this fact probably aggravated his condition.

Arbitration Efforts Fail.
Efforts by the employers' group at the industrial conference to force to an immediate issue labor's proposal that the steel strike be arbitrated failed today, the labor group and all of the public group except Robert H. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel corporation, voting to postpone action until tomorrow.

The conference adjourned until 2:30 p. m. tomorrow, when the arbitration resolution will be brought to a vote.

Demand that the proposal for arbitration be made an immediate issue was made by the capital group, through the chairman, Harry A. Wheeler, Bernard M. Baruch, of the public group, had proposed that action on the steel resolution be postponed until tomorrow.

Postponement of action on the resolution previously had been agreed to by the labor and public groups and the opposition of the employers came as a surprise. Samuel Gompers, chairman of the labor group, conducted a vigorous fight yesterday against sending the arbitration resolution back to the committee of 15.

Wilson Demands Action.
President Wilson will not sanction adjournment of the industrial conference here until it has exhausted every possible means of finding a solution of the present industrial situation. White House officials said today.

Despite his illness, the president was understood to be in the situation in the conference resulting from the controversy over labor's proposal for arbitration of the steel strike. He was understood to feel that this should not endanger the ultimate success of the conference.

Husband and Wife
Shot in Dual Affray

[By Associated Press.]
Racine, Oct. 15.—Anton Felbo and his wife, Kathryn, aged 25 and 26 respectively, are at a hospital suffering from possibly fatal wounds as the result of a shooting affray which took place last evening when the husband sought to have his wife return to him after a year's separation.

The woman was shot in the back after her refusal to accede to her husband's request. The tragedy occurred in the home of the husband, Mrs. John Chizek. The husband then left and shot himself. A five year old child witnessed the dual shooting.

King of Spain Goes to Paris by Plebian Train

[By Associated Press.]
Paris, Tuesday, Oct. 14.—In view of the present campaign by the Spanish press for the settlement of the French-Spanish Moroccan question, the king of Spain to this city is causing comment. The fact that former Premier Romanones, who was in office when the king left, was accompanied by the king, is regarded as significant.

King Alfonso will arrive in Paris next Monday, Oct. 15, by the train from Bordeaux on the regular Paris express. It is becoming fashionable for royalty to travel on plebian passenger trains, and the king is no exception. The king's departure from London for Paris yesterday made a journey from London to Sandringham by an ordinary train.

Danzig Takes Over
Imperial Shipyards

[By Associated Press.]
Berlin, Tuesday, Oct. 14.—The free city of Danzig in the capacity of trustee, has taken over national arms and munitions within its jurisdiction. The most important of these properties are the imperial shipyards, the gun factory and the artillery works.

Kenosha Carpenters,
200 Strong, on Strike

[By Associated Press.]
Kenosha, Oct. 14.—Two hundred union carpenters are on strike here, their demand for $1 an hour having been refused by the Association of Master Builders. The carpenters are striking in solidarity with the union, calling for $5 cents an hour until May 1, 1920. The strike stops practically all building operations in the city.

H. C. L. to Be Taken up
By Commerce Body

[By Associated Press.]
Oshkosh, Oct. 15.—The Association of Commerce, composed of other business bodies, will take up in a short time certain phases of the high cost of living, that matter having been brought officially to its attention by the national council of defense.

Aids Poor Tots

Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh, grandmother of the "millionaire baby," killed a few months ago by an auto, has announced that she intends to devote her life to furnishing clothes for the children of the poor. She wishes her work to be a memorial to the little fellow.

LOCAL SALOONS MAY CLOSE IN A FEW DAYS

Janesville saloons which have been dispensing of 2.75 percent beer for the past four months may be closed for all time within the next three or four days, word has been received here by the various brewery agencies that the sale of beer may be stopped at any time.

Rumors spread about the city during the day that the saloon owners had been ordered to close their places Saturday night but it was found that they were unfounded.

C. L. Thompson, manager of the local Val Blatz agency said today he had received his orders but he did not care to discuss them at this time.

He said his orders did not specify any particular time when the sale of beer should stop but it was expected in a few days unless some unforeseen event occurred.

Several saloonkeepers believe the breweries have taken this precaution as a result of the bill which was passed by congress a few days ago prohibiting the sale of beverage containing more than one-half of one percent alcohol. The bill has been sent to the president for his signature and if the chief executive does not sign it within ten days it becomes a law.

Ice Cream Companies Fined for Violations

La Crosse, Oct. 15.—The tri-state ice cream corporation and the Gibson Ice Cream company paid fines of $25 and costs in court here today for selling a product with less than 14 percent of butter fat in it as required by law.

SUSPENSION OF MAGAZINES
If, as is threatened, the leading magazines of the country suspend publication for a time, pending adjustment of a dispute between rival unions of the printing trades in New York, the experience of being deprived of these periodicals may be not without value, for it will show to what extent we are dependent upon them for mental pabulum. It will be annoying to those who are reading continued stories to be held in suspense as to the outcome of the heroes' and heroines' adventures; persons who receive much of their stimulation to thought from magazine articles may feel lost; and the folk who derive pleasure from the art features will miss them.

But there is no danger of a period of intellectual starvation. The newspapers will satisfy the principal wants of the general reader. The public, cut off from the periodical literature to which it has been accustomed, will read the papers more thoroughly, and many will be surprised to learn how well the dailies cover the game field to which the weekly and monthly publications are devoted. The special features and entertaining articles, the instructive matter appearing on the editorial page, will assume new importance. Several hours of reading are provided in the average newspaper of today. If full justice is done no leisure will remain before bedtime for reading anything else. It will be a revelation to those who have been accustomed to skimming through the paper to find out how much it contains.

There is no intention of asserting that to be deprived of the magazines, even temporarily, will be no loss. Prepared leisurely, they can cover a subject as a rule more comprehensively than the daily. The high price at which they sell, as well as the ample time at their disposal, permits them to attain a higher degree of typographical excellence than is possible in the newspapers. Moreover, many of them with national circulation are devoted to special interests to which it would be unprofitable for a daily to give attention.

But so long as newspapers of the present high standard continue to publish, the suspension of the magazines will be no irreparable hardship.

HE IS NOT FORGETTING.
In the midst of receptions such as have been tendered few foreigners in the history of the nation and amid the showers of honors being accorded Cardinal Mercier, Belgium's heroic prime, honors which have swept aside all semblance of religious lines and prejudices, that distinguished priest is not forgetting the object of his mission to this country.

As he addresses college students in the land which has done so much for his stricken country, he does not forget to tell his story, and Cardinal Mercier has, perhaps, the most interesting story to tell it has been given man to tell since the beginning of civilization.

In the hour of his great triumph in America, the aged priest is not ashamed of the tears that fall as he tells of what his countrymen suffered and what he suffered.

It is evident, too, that he is not here to teach the doctrine of hate, but nevertheless his story of cruelties, his recitals of heathenish atrocities and barbarous brutalities will have a tendency to postpone the forget-and-forgive attitude already apparent in many quarters.

Cardinal Mercier need not draw on his imagination to awaken sympathy for his stricken land, for no man saw more, felt more, did more, during Belgium's years of suffering and starving.

Cardinal Mercier, in the hour of new honors in sympathetic America, is not forgetting the stricken he has left behind.

ORIGINALITY, AGAIN!
Women will never become good socialists. They like originality. No person will be able to tell a woman that she must wear a dress or a hat or a pair of shoes exactly like those worn by another woman. It simply can't be done.

Two young ladies, attired in the latest style, figured in police court at Pittsburgh, Pa., a day or two ago, simply because they had hats alike.

One girl explained to the judge that her milliner had told her that the hat she had purchased was the only one of its kind in the city. And then, she explained earnestly to the judge, she went out on the streets and met that horrid woman over there with the very same sort of a hat!

Horrors! But the judge wasn't impressed. He realized it was the age-old struggle for originality in style for women.

It is likely that in the Garden of Eden, Eve would have been jealous of any other woman who wore a fig leaf shaped like her's. But fortunately Eve wasn't bothered by competitors. Oh happy Garden of Eden!

SOME NEW BLOOD.
Thousands of young, eager war brides, mostly French and English women, are arriving in this country, monthly. It means a new stock of blood for the country, and a wave of sympathetic relations with the countries which were our allies in the late war. It will do all of us good.

England thought all Americans were bullies, with a swagger and a lot of money. America thought all Englishmen were dukes and said "bloomin'" and had straw-colored hair and wore monocles and that Frenchmen had tiny mustaches and thought more about the women than anything else.

The war has taught each of the three nations the error of their ways. Now they are allies.

And the bringing to America of soldier's wives and the mothers fathers and brothers and sisters of these brides, will do much more to change the feeling and opinion about the characteristics of the Europeans and those of the Americans. It will more solidly cement the friendship of the countries.

America should welcome these foreign brides of Americans with open arms.

If a baby was born on board an English ship, in the middle of the Atlantic ocean, his mother being a French woman, and his father an American soldier, wouldn't the baby be an ally?

Janesville has been entertaining state Baptists this week. It is a pleasure and honor to have in our midst such earnest and worthy citizens. Although we are unable in this period of a crowded city to furnish the comforts and attention we would desire, our folks have

LIFE.
The grieving and the heart of life
Are often hard to bear.
And every hour of bitter strife
Is clouded with despair.
There's much of pain and much of joy
For every man to meet.
Life's burdens weary us, but, Oh,
Its happy days are sweet.

Sometimes the dismal days seem long.
Sometimes our hearts are sad;
We wonder as we hear their song
What makes the robins glad.
And when our skies grow blue once more
And we have dried our tears,
When joy is dancing round the door,
How bright the sun appears!

When enemies our path beset
And we must bear their blows;
When hate and envy make us fret,
The world seems filled with foes.
Then we would shun the haunts of men
And go where striving ends,
But life is all worth while again
When we are with our friends.

Life's burdens oft are hard to bear
But all its joys are sweet;
Along the dreary lanes of care
Men walk with lagging feet.
They wince beneath the hurt and pain
Which fate to all must give,
But when the laughter rings again,
How good it seems to live!

Germany no longer controls the dye industry. America is going to show the world some new shades next spring, say the style experts. And they will all be "made in America."

"Reds" and their sympathizers are boasting that bolshevist rule has lasted two years in Russia. Well? All those corpses could not have been piled up in two or three months.

It's hardly likely that King Albert has a hankering for any of our political offices, but candidates out west are getting rather uneasy over his baby-kissing propensity.

If that Baptist parson—now an army aviator—can fly upward as fast and surely as he can horizontally, he need not worry about reaching the pearly gates.

Let's not wring our hands in horror over that Moscow "revolution." It's only a dog fight among the bolsheviks, with some rats possibly joining in.

England is curbing the profiteer by licensing only reputable dealers. Over here there would be a lot of quibbling as to who is "reputable."

What boots it to those New York longshoremen that 5,000 cars of food are rotting on the docks there? Haven't they the right to strike?

Poet d'Annunzio is overlooking a bet. Why doesn't he wind up a forkful or two of long meter verse and fire them at this "tyrant?"

Speaking of demobilization, when do the typewriter generals and colonels at Washington lay down their arms?

Their Opinions

Hitch Your Wagon to the Sun

By FRÉDÉRIC J. HASKIN, Director
Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau,
Washington, D. C.

Washington, Oct. 15.—The sun can be harnessed and put to work! Civilization can be made forever independent of coal mines, oil wells and other sources of fuel, which are so rapidly being exhausted, and which require so much human labor to convert them into heat and power.

Methods for hitching the sun to the machinery of civilization, for making it run our factories and our street cars, light and heat our homes, have been worked out in the round, and they are ready to be applied, and patents have been taken out on them.

Nothing stands in the way of this great and necessary development save the immense inertia of habit, and the lack of human faith in human ability. This is the substance of an interview with several scientists who have specialized on problems of heat and power. They are conservative scientists, occupying positions of high responsibility.

Fearful for His Reputation
"You cannot quote me," said one of the scientists, "as one of those kind folk would call me a second Jules Verne, and some who are not so kind would call me a liar. My reputation for conservatism would be seriously injured."

"But you can say that it is possible to harness the sun, and be well within the truth. No scientist who has studied the problem will dispute the statement. I will give you a good deal further. I am willing to say that if a competent physicist, in heat and power, were given a million dollars, a first class laboratory and a corps of competent assistants, he could within a year perfect a practical apparatus for converting sun heat directly into either steam or electricity."

"But it is no use telling the public the truth until it is too late. The sun is the thing done, and maybe it won't believe it then. The attitude of the average man toward the sun and the sun is in effect a little bit of the attitude of the man toward a story Orville Wright told me. For months he flew back and forth between two trolley lines. In Dayton in his newly invented airplane, without ever getting a notice in the local newspapers. Finally a reporter was sent to the field. He saw Wright fly, and wrote a piece about it. Which the five times the size of the city editor, the editor read it over and tossed it aside."

"It may be true, he said. But there's no use printing it. Nobody would believe it. It would only hurt my reputation for conservatism."

Had to Go to Europe
"Wright had to go down to North Carolina and give an exhibition before he could even get himself noticed. He had to go to Europe to get any support."

"It will likely be the same with this matter of converting sun heat directly into power. Patents on apparatus for the purpose already exist in Germany. The method will probably be in use over there while we are still wasting man power in this country, gazing the remainder of our coal supply out of the bowels of the earth."

"We have an ever-increasing need for a new source of power. Coal is becoming dearer and harder to get every year. Everything we wear and use, most of the things we eat, are manufactured. The increased cost of the power that is used in manufacturing is one of the many causes of our high living cost. As long as we laboriously dig coal in the middle west and haul it hundreds of miles or so to factories in New England, we are wasting man power and we have got to pay for that waste."

"Of course, our great water power resources are underused. We are slowly getting around to that. It will solve the problem for some sections but that is all. The direct application of sun heat is the future. We are all just realizing that our coal and oil supplies are about gone."

Sun Made Electric
"How can the thing be done? Well, one method is to convert the sun heat directly into electricity. The method applied to the sun heat is to use a parabolic mirror, of standards, not long ago, when he made an apparatus for measuring the heat of the stars. He made a tiny 'thermo-couple' by connecting two plates of metal of different kinds. When he focused the star light on one of these, raising its temperature, an electric current was generated between the two different metals, on the same principle that any other electric battery works. Dr. Coblentz measured the heat of the stars, which, he estimated, would raise the temperature of a gram of water one degree centigrade in a million years. Now this same method could be used in converting the heat of the sun into electric current. Make a thousand of those little thermal batteries, make a lens to concentrate the sun heat upon them, provide storage

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

ROY K. MOULTON

THE UNDER DOG.
I am a poor pedestrian,
I tremble and I shake
Whenever I have to take
A trip across the downtown street.
Confusion is complete.
I dodge, I jump,
I curve, I hump,
I hurry and I slurry, and
I loop the loop to beat the band;
It takes a circus acrobat
To know exactly where he's at.
I dodge a street car but don't find
A motorcycle right behind.
It snorts and pops,
My heart most stops.
It scares me out of five years growth
(Excuse a short spasmodic oath).
Somehow the onus thing gets by
And doesn't break my neck or thigh,
Although I tried.
I leap aside
And find a mammoth touring car
Is waiting, my backhock to jar.
It hovers and it hums
At passing teams.
I leap and vault
And somersault
And get out of the monster's way
And land before a two-horse dray.
I squirm about
And in and out
And when at last quite safe I feel,
A messenger boy upon a wheel
Serapes my coat
And gets my goat.
Then his my luck
To meet a truck
And to escape a fatal bump.
I jump.
Oft in my life I have been told
There are bad streets all paved
With gold;
It is a place that's passing fair,
It is a city free from care.
I often wonder with a sigh,
If poor pedestrians such as I
In that far distant day
Will have to jump
And have to hump
To get across the way.

HE BENT HIS EAR.
Here is an example of good poetry. We know it is good poetry because we got it out of the "Bookman." Note the rhyming of "wings" and "kings."

He bent his ear, and he heard afar
The growing of tender things;
And his heart broke forth with the travelling of wings.
And shook with tremulous wings
Of sweet brown birds that had never known
The dirge of the city's wins.

It is a shame to think what Barrie might have accomplished if he had not used tobacco for an infirmity. He might have written one or two plays that would have been worth while. Were it not for the brain-dulling effects of tobacco, George Bernard Shaw might have turned out some philosophies that would have attracted attention. Old Ivy Cobb might have written something funny. Mark Twain might have lived in the memory of the oldest inhabitant. Whittier might have painted something that would have gotten up something important instead of the little jimerack wireless thing. Dave Belasco might, now and then, put on a decent show that would make the money. Charles Frohman might have risen to some prominence.

The Princess Nicotine, gay deceiver, has put the kibosh on all these men and millions more who were born to do great things and she must go. She is a frivolous nuisance, this is a serious world. By all means, banish tobacco.

The wise girl doesn't marry an officer, who is used to hosing people around, but picks out a private who knows how to cook, scrub and obey orders.

Boston served King Albert baked beans in golden pots. But a bean is a bean for a that.

If the world can only stand a few more years of peace, all will be well.

ASK US
The Gazette maintains an information bureau at Washington, D. C., under the direction of Frederic J. Haskin. Questions will be answered on any subject. Those desiring information may write a letter to the Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau, Washington D. C., and enclose a stamp. The letter will be answered by the bureau.

Q. Has the population of the world increased or decreased during the last one hundred years?
A. The population of the world has more than doubled in that period. At the beginning of the nineteenth century it is estimated that there were about 700,000,000 people in the world. In 1914 the estimated population was 1,675,000,000.

Q. My three-month-old brood of black leghorns have white feathers. Is this an indication that they are an inferior breed?
A. The bureau of animal industry says that it is not infrequent for pure young black leghorns to have white feathers, particularly on the wings. These white feathers often disappear until the fowl gets its final plumage.

Q. What is the value of platinum?
A. The geological survey says that the value of platinum varies. It is worth from $100 to $150 an ounce, while gold is worth $20.67 an ounce.

Q. Is it proper for a divorced woman to resume her maiden name?
A. This is permissible, but she may retain her former husband's name if she cares to. Sometimes a woman takes her husband's name, combines it with her maiden name, such as Mrs. Sarah Jones-Smith.

Q. Are aliens, who claimed exemption from military service, often granted if not a citizenship, subject to deportation?
A. B. The bureau of immigration says that an alien would not be deported for this alone.

Q. What is the best way to clean corduroy?
A. G. R. T. A. Sponge with gasoline and benzine. Do not expose to the air to get rid of the odor of the chemical.

Q. Why is a person's shadow longer in winter than in summer?
A. D. H. That the shadow is longer in winter than in summer is due to the fact that in winter the sun is not so nearly overhead and its rays fall more obliquely upon the earth.

Q. What is the true meaning of "Swan Song"?
A. A. This expression has reference to an old saying to the effect that the swan, voiceless through life, breaks out into song at the approach of death. The expression is often used figuratively. The last public utterance of some statesman, for example, being referred to as his swan song.

Q. Who were the Night Riders?
A. H. C. A. This term was applied to parties who, during the period between 1906 and 1910, carried on a bitter war against the tobacco growing states in the south. A number of planters entered into an agreement to fight the trust by refusing to sell their product. When some of the planters broke their agreement bands of masked horsemen visited their plantations and destroyed their crops.

When were beads first made?
B. M. B. A. It is not known exactly how long ago the first beads were made. They were among the earliest ornaments known and are found in many Egyptian tombs. Beads were used by the Phoenicians for trade, and were also widely used by the American Indians.

Spring Needle Underwear

To walk, bend, lift, pull or push with comfort, your underwear must give with every movement, yet have the elasticity to always come back into shape. Ordinary latch needle underwear soon stretches out of shape and gets baggy. Cooper's Bennington underwear retains its spring—because it is spring needle knit throughout and not just at cuffs and ankles.

An extra mile of yarn gives an extra year of wear. We have your size in many weights, styles and prices. Ask to see the genuine Cooper's Bennington underwear.

NIGHT VOCATIONAL CLASSES ARE FILLED; 150 ARE ENROLLED

One hundred fifty men and women enrolled at the evening school which began last evening.

Classes were organized and work was begun, some of the students working from 7 to 9:15 o'clock. "Jansville is certainly interested in the evening school and work in the proper spirit," said J. M. Doran, superintendent of vocational work in the city. "All of the students are taking the course in the work which they are now pursuing or with the plans to learn something which will aid them in securing better positions for the future."

Numerous inquiries have been received by Mr. Doran today concerning enrollment. It is expected that many more will enroll Thursday evening. Commercial and dressmaking classes are filled to capacity, as are the engine and drawing classes. One or two more students may be taken into the machine work and millinery classes. One or two calls have been received for a class in art needle work. If nine or more people signify their intention of taking this work, a class will be started. Persons desiring to enter any of these classes are urged to enroll that the classes may be divided and more teachers be secured.

The school will be open two nights a week, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7:15 to 9:15 o'clock. Work has been planned by those in charge until Christmas, after that advanced work will be given which will last for four months.

Instructors who are in charge of the classes follow: Dressmaking, Misses Gertrude Bucholtz and Ida C. Lander; French, Miss Isabelle Sirov; commercial, Misses Hilda Meisner, Nellie Mullins and Amelia Rosenbaum; physical culture, Miss Pauline Callen; English, Misses Hilda Meisner, Elizabeth J. Bassford; machine work, Fred Wright; gas engine, Fred Goss; drawing, G. E. Zimmerman; millinery, Mrs. Maude Ross; Miss Rosemary Bright has charge of the office.

Women who desire to take up work in the afternoon sewing class can enroll by coming to the Lincoln school Friday afternoon.

MISSIONARY MEETING HELD AT MILTON JCT.

Jansville was well represented last evening at the opening exercises of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, Jansville, district of the Methodist church which is in session at Milton Junction.

Members of the senior Standard Bearers of the local Methodist church and 16 junior members attended the banquet which was served at 6:30. After the banquet the speaker of the evening, Miss Hewitt, principal of the missionary school at Ladang, Mexico, gave an address on the work which is being done in Mexico by missionary societies. She explained the conditions of Mexico and told of the work which is being done in the missionary school.

Miss Eva Townsend of this city led in the devotional exercises. After the address by the speaker, the Junior Standard Bearers and the Men's chorus of the M. E. church.

Mrs. W. S. Whitewater, president of the district society, presided at the meeting. Officers were elected at the meeting this morning.

Jansville women who appeared on the program this afternoon were, Mesdames P. F. Lewis, J. E. Lane and George Jacobs.

W. R. C. CONVENTION HELD IN EDGERTON

(By Gazette Correspondent.)
Edgerton, Oct. 15.—The district convention of the W. R. C. was held at Edgerton, Oct. 13, at the church Tuesday. Eight corps were represented: Jansville, Port Atkinson, Milton, Milton Junction, Jefferson, Rainy, Whitewater and Edgerton. During the morning session the ritualistic work of the local Women's Relief corps was exemplified. Mrs. Sadie Carman, by department patriotic instructor, as inspector, a chicken pie dinner was served by the women of the M. E. church. The dining hall was decorated with autumn foliage.

At 1:30 p. m. the convention was called to order by the district president Mrs. Ounie Sherman, after which the following program was given: Address of welcome, Mrs. Lizzie Williams, Edgerton; response, Mrs. Carrie Glenn, Jansville; reading, Mrs. Hilday, Milton; extract from address of commander-in-chief of G. A. R. by department patriotic instructor, Mrs. Sadie Carman, Jansville; reading, Mrs. Carrie Young, Whitewater; song by Miss Pearl Williams, Edgerton; report of national convention, Mrs. Stevens, Jefferson; reading, Louise Siverberg, Edgerton; tribute to Our Flag, Mrs. Dickerson, Jansville; song in costume, Grace Cary, Zetta Entress, Mrs. Hughes, Milton Junction; paper on convention held at Columbus, Ohio, Mrs. Owen, Jefferson; reading, Mrs. Chadwick, Port Atkinson.

At the close of the program the election of officers for the following year took place with the following results: president, Mrs. Grace Cary, Milton Junction; senior vice president, Mrs. Margaret Davis, Milton; junior vice president, Mrs. Winslow, Jansville; secretary, Mrs. Lizzie Williams, Edgerton; treasurer, Mrs. Grace Brown, Port Atkinson. The convention next year will be held at Milton Junction, assisted by the Milton W. R. C.

The Edgerton convention was honored by the presence of the state department patriotic instructor and the state department press correspondent.

A total of 130 women attended the convention.

The district convention of the Women's Relief corps was held at Edgerton Tuesday. Mrs. Cora Benson, Oakland avenue, read an original poem entitled "Our Flag." Mrs. Carrie Glen gave a response to the address of welcome. Those who attended from this city were Mesdames Foster, Marsder, James Carman, Clark, Morse, Carle, Blader, Walker, Rowley, Dickerson, Knapp, Fisher, Bear, Farish, Jones, Wells, Glenn, Winslow, Conrad Morse and Fox.

BIGGER PRODUCTION URGED BY NATIONAL C. OF C. ORGANIZER

Immediate steps toward increasing production, improving transportation facilities, and increasing retail trade were urged upon members of the Chamber of Commerce at the weekly luncheon at the Officers hotel today by Colvin B. Brown, head of the organization service bureau of the United States Chamber of Commerce. Nearly 100 members attended.

"If you strive to accomplish these things and in addition work for better living, educational, and recreational conditions, you will have done your part in the national program and will also have taken a long step toward the prevention of national labor unrest," said Mr. Brown.

Urges Building Now
He also emphasized the importance of building now, rather than waiting, predicting that prices would remain on the present high scale for some time.

"Serious times are ahead unless we increase production. Cannot we deal with this in the same way that we dealt with the problems of the war? Can we not prepare a local program of work that will be national in effect. We have demonstrated repeatedly during the past four years what organized effort and aroused public opinion will accomplish. Why should we then prepare a program that is big and vital and then educate and organize public opinion in its support?"

Mr. Brown said that he does not and with your municipal boundary lines. It extends outward to cover our entire retail trade territory. It is the betterment of living and working conditions in that territory that we must have in mind. It is doubtful if there is a community anywhere in the country that equals its production possibilities.

"Transportation demands our attention now. We have come to understand that the great national highway is not from New York to San Francisco, but from the farm to town. The removal of traffic obstruction and the provision of improved facilities are the things for which we must work."

Need City Plan
Industry, commerce, civics, and recreation should all have a place on your program. We want a contented working class, stores so excellent that they draw all trade in, a city with ample school facilities, and a city plan, no matter how simple it may be. You should vision your city as it will be in the future and with this in mind you will be constantly striving to make the dream come true.

"America today is the creditor nation of the world. It is the only nation that can pay its trade balances in gold. It has a compact domestic market making for quantity production and can produce much of what the world needs at a lower cost than any other country and at the same time pay the highest wages in the world. It is the richest and most influential nation in the world."

"May we each do our bit, working in our own communities, with the tools at our command, always having in mind that whatever of betterment we bring to ourselves is being brought to the nation as a part; for the nation is but the sum total of its communities."

Manager George P. Wells urged all members to attend the special council meeting this evening.

LOW PRODUCTION IN GRAIN CROPS IS SHOWN IN REPORT

The October grain report issued by Joseph A. East of the Wisconsin co-operative reporting service shows the preliminary estimates of wheat, oats, barley and rice production for 1919 to total 1,032,000 bushels, as compared with the September forecast of 1,043,836 bushels, 152,092,000 produced in 1918 and a five-year (1914-1918) average production of 122,750,000 bushels. Drought during July and the prevalence of rust account for the lowered production this year.

The yield of spring wheat is estimated to be 12.5 bushels per acre, as compared with 24.6 bushels in 1918 and a 10-year average of 19.1 bushels. The total production is estimated at 5,562,000 bushels, compared to 5,577,000 forecasted from condition on September 1, 8,000,000 bushels produced in 1918 and a five-year average of 3,493,000.

With the winter wheat crop of 2,020,000 bushels, the total wheat produced in Wisconsin this year is estimated at 7,582,000 bushels, compared to 7,597,000 forecasted on September 1, 9,373,000 bushels produced in 1918 and a five-year average of 3,340,000.

The quality of grain is very low this year—61 percent of a high medium quality, as compared with last year and a 10-year average of 83 percent.

Wheat Production Lower.

The preliminary estimate of production of spring wheat for the United States is estimated to be 203 million bushels, compared with 208 million, the September forecast based on condition at time of harvest, a production of 350 million bushels in 1918 and a five-year average of 250 million. All wheat production is estimated at 368 million bushels, compared with 392 million forecasted on September 1, 917 produced in 1918 and a five-year average of 321 million bushels.

Preliminary estimate of the oats crop is placed at 74,220,000 bushels, compared to the forecast from September 1 condition of 74,131,000 bushels, a production in 1918 of 116,620,000 bushels and a five-year average of 90,062,000. The average yield is estimated at 33.0 bushels per acre, as compared with 40.9 bushels in 1918 and a 10-year average of 37.0.

Quality of the grain is low, 79 percent of a high medium grade, compared to 85 last year and a 10-year average of 83 percent.

The United States oats crop is estimated to be 1,220 million bushels, compared with 1,235 million forecasted on September 1 from condition at time of harvest, with the 1918 production of 1,533 and a five-year average of 1,415 million bushels.

Barley Yield Low.

Barley will yield an average of 27.0 bushels per acre this year, as compared to 35.7 bushels last year and a 10-year average of 29.4 bushels. Preliminary estimate of production in 1919 is 15,363,000 bushels, as compared with 14,722,000 bushels forecasted from September 1 condition, 25,383,000 bushels produced in 1918 and a five-year average of 20,006,000 bushels.

Quality of grain averages 82 percent of a high medium grade, compared to 95 percent last year and a 10-year average of 86.

Preliminary estimate of the United States barley crop is placed at 108 million bushels, compared to the September forecast of 195 million, the 1918 production of 220 million and a five-year average of 215 million bushels.

Condition of clover for seed at time of harvest was 87 percent, as compared to 89 on September 1. Forecasted production is 107,000 bushels, as compared with 101,000 bushels in 1918 and 336,000 bushels in 1917.

The clover seed crop of the United States will total 1,000,000 bushels, as compared with 1,100,000 bushels produced in 1918.

Condition of pasture on October 1 was 80 percent of normal, compared with 82 on September 1, and 87 percent a year ago.

The condition of minor crops on October 1 compared with September 1 and the 10-year average (Oct. 1) are as follows: Apples 60, 66 and 69; peas, 84, 85 and 84. Cabbage will yield 7.9 tons per acre, compared with 7.5 tons last year and an eight-year average of 8.5 tons. Corn will yield 195 bushels per acre, compared to 295 bushels last year and an eight-year average of 240.

Preliminary estimates of yield per acre of grain in Rock county are: Spring wheat, 15.6 bushels; oats, 24.7 bushels; and barley, 28.8 bushels.

Milton, Oct. 14.—The girls of Goodrich hall will give a carnival in Goodrich hall, Oct. 16. It has been the custom for the girls to give a party for the girls living in this dormitory to give a fair, the proceeds of which are expended to improve their home.

After a week of kidnapping and impromptu immersions in Rock river the warring under classmen have submitted to comparative inactivity.

In the days before the war the tradition bound the two under classes to a strict usage, but since the coming of the S. A. T. C. the organized activities have been allowed to take their own course whenever practicable. Thus organized class rushing was not carried on this year.

The scrapping was carried on with good spirit nevertheless. All seemed well satisfied with the result.

City Planning Movement

BY JOHN P. NOTEN

The modern movement for city planning in the United States may be said to have begun about 1890, with a special stimulus along certain lines in 1893 through the influence of the world's fair in Chicago. A large amount of city planning, much of it of a high order, was done in 1893. In no case, however, did it represent a movement, it was not widespread and it was not continuous or persistent.

Notable examples of earlier city planning are: William Penn's plan for Philadelphia in 1682, and the plans for other Pennsylvania cities, like Reading, for instance, which were connected with it; the plan of Williamsburg, Va., in 1699; Oglethorpe's plan for Savannah, in 1733; the great plan of L'Enfant for Washington, D. C., in 1790; other plans due to the influence of L'Enfant or his associates, as Buffalo, N. Y., and Erie, Pa.; the plan for New York City in 1847. All of these plans were of a spasmodic character, of the "once for all" type, without any adequate provision for systematic revision and extension.

City Planning at Low Ebb.

The period from the early part of the nineteenth century until the last decade of that century was one in which the planning of cities, the architectural planning of buildings, and, in fact, like municipal government itself, was at a low point, characterized by few results of desirable value.

During this period, largely that the western cities adopted checkerboard plans of the most commonplace form, without any real recognition of the requirements of streets and transportation. The necessity to preserve natural features, nor to set aside public open spaces, nor to take care of the economic and industrial problems involved, in the improvement of waterways and waterfronts.

The more direct courses of the present city planning movement have been many. Among the most important which should be mentioned are the following: The influence of the plan of 1871 for New York City, which showed not only highways, but a system of rapid transit, railroads free from grade crossings with the streets; the appointment of the Boston board of surveys in 1891; the Boston metropolitan plan, promulgated in 1892; the world's fair exposition in Chicago in 1893; the establishment of the school of landscape architecture at Harvard university in 1900; the work of Daniel H. Burnham, Charles F. McKim, Augustus Saint Gaudens, and Frederick Law Olmsted, Jr., in the report of the general committee on the District of Columbia in 1902; the plan of Chicago prepared under the direction of the Commercial club, 1906-8, by Burnham and Bennett; and the creation of a committee on city planning by the board of estimate and apportionment of New York City in 1914, with the problem of distilling the city as an important feature; and the plan of a large number of general plans and reports for the smaller cities.

CHIEFS GROW RAPIDLY

The background of these definite projects was the rapid growth of cities, a nation-wide civic awakening, the improvement of the form and character of city government, the establishment of public service commission, the organization of local improvement societies, civic bodies, women's clubs, chambers of commerce, and boards of trade.

A great influence also exercised by the rapid and substantial progress of town planning in Europe. Soon after the Franco-Prussian war, German cities, beginning with those in Prussia, went to work systematically to improve their municipalities. Much planning was done, and publications of various kinds were issued. Other European countries, especially France and Belgium and Austria, achieved success in the replanning of towns and cities for modern life. Especial mention should be made of the passage of the English housing and town planning act in 1919, which provided a suggestive method of procedure for Canada and the United States.

A clearing-house for city planning ideas and an effective means of stimulating and directing the movement was secured by the organization of the national conference on city planning in 1919, which has continued its work to date, holding an annual conference, publishing a quarterly journal, "The City Plan" and carrying on correspondence.

Individual Depends Upon City.

The ideas of most significant in the modern city planning movement are: the increasing dependence of the individual upon the prosperity of the city as a whole; the importance of planning not merely for the time requirements, but also for those of the future; and the necessity, for reasons of economy as well as success, to co-ordinate the planning of the various features so that the improvements to be carried out will be well related, one to another, far-reaching and permanent.

The city planning movement in the United States, and in the various cities which take it up, has usually three phases. There is first the propaganda, which expresses itself mainly in rather vague discussion. That is followed often by the preparation of a report and a general plan submitting more or less definite proposals based upon a preliminary study, and resulting as a rule only in tentative suggestions.

Detailed Plans Follow.

Frequently as a direct result of this general planning, however, detailed plans and construction drawings for public improvements follow. This third stage is apt to be somewhat ineffective, unless suitable local machinery is secured in the form of a planning board or city plan commission with some real power, and an appropriation with which to do its work.

An excellent outline of "How to Organize a City Planning Campaign," by Frederick Law Olmsted, has been published in the American City pamphlets. It gives the basic idea of city planning, the city plan office of the future, a city survey as the basis for a plan, and physical accomplishment as the final step.

Illustrated Viewing Eclipse.

We can illustrate this as follows: Let any large white circular disk on the wall represent the sun. Take a coin and hold it before the eye so that it completely hides this disk from the eye and we have the condition for the total eclipse. If we move the coin toward the disk we will reach a position of the coin in which a ring of the disk will be visible around the darker coin, and this is the annular eclipse. If we move the coin sufficiently in a vertical or horizontal direction we destroy the annulus and have an ordinary partial eclipse. Of course, the annular eclipse is unaccompanied by any of the gorgeous display which is observed at total eclipses.

For this eclipse the path where it will be seen as annular includes the cities of San Antonio, Austin, Houston and Galveston, Texas, and the entire island of Cuba; it then sweeps through the Caribbean to the South American coast and across the Atlantic to Africa. In the eastern part of the United States it will be visible as a partial eclipse only. The times of visibility are very different in different localities.

In the Texas cities the eclipse will be a quarter finished by sunrise Nov. 22 and will end completely at 9 a. m. On a line running almost directly south from Toledo, O., the beginning will be at sunrise and the ending about 10:15. Along the Atlantic seaboard the beginning will be about 5 a. m. and the end about 20:30 a. m. Along the Pacific coast the eclipse will be over before the sun has risen.

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]

Boston.—"Bill" Nye, veteran of the federal secret service, who has guarded presidents for many years, was "held up" by a state guardman while the clever detective was guarding King Albert of Belgium on his visit to Boston.

"I don't care who you are. I have orders to keep everyone out of the car," said the guardman to Nye as the secret service man attempted to board King Albert's train.

Nye, in charge of this party, Nye replied.

But Nye had to wait, with a bayonet close to his breast, until a lieutenant of the guards came up and permitted him to pass.

THE DANGER OF BEING ALIVE (4)

The first main cause of ill health in this country is health ignorance, for which we have to thank our above-the-neck educational system. On this almost universal health ignorance depends the equally universal credulity or gullibility of the American people, who spent last year no less than $500,000,000 for drugs, of which no less than $3,500,000 was spent for drugs which no reputable physicians prescribed.

The second main cause of ill health—and remember that as a nation we are scarcely 60 percent efficient. Remember that no less than 35 percent of the first 3,500,000 of our young men, and almost 50 percent of our young women, were found unfit for active military service by the various examining boards. The second great factor of popular ill health is our national stinginess in appropriating funds for health protection. Now I do not refer to the national government of America, but to the municipal communities in providing public health protection. I refer to individual negligence. People who do not take the least to paying $80 for a suit of clothes two or three times a year, although one suit would suffice, will resort to almost any means rather than pay more than $10 in a year for individual health service such as nobody but the educated family doctor is in a position to furnish today. And what is the alternative? A big snaffle.

The United States public health service estimates that if the average citizen would take the least care for himself in one year in this country were saved and equitably divided it would save every legally licensed and regularly practicing physician in the country an additional income of $2,000. But it would do more than that. It would make a lot less work for physicians to do, since self-medication is accountable for a great deal of ill health. And that might not be advisable—a doctor with less work to do.

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 18 and have no home, my parents being dead. I work in a factory and my foreman has asked me to marry him. He is in the army and is very gentlemanly and I think a lot of him. Am I too young to marry? He is 30. I get so tired of factory work. It is different with girls who have homes but I just have a living room and it is not a bit pleasant. I am not beautiful, but considered pretty, and I have a lot of friends, both boys and girls. I am not a flirty kind of a girl, either. This man is the kindest I have ever met.

I am sure I love him, but can't feel that I can't live without him. I have heard somewhere that that is the true test of love. Will you please tell me if this is true? I don't want to marry a divorced man? I haven't even a sister I can ask for advice.

LYDIA.
You are very young to marry, but as you say, it is different with you; you need a home and some one to love who will love you. Do not take this step, however, unless you are sure of the man's character and habits. The fact that he has been divorced shows that he did not make one woman happy and suggests the possibility that he would not prove satisfactory to you.

Some girls marry at 18 and are very happy. This would be your fate if the man is a good character and your love for each other is deep and true. You must make your own decision, however. Do not be hasty in your promise because if you love him you will wait until you are sure.

The test of love which you mention is good, but when a girl has learned to be independent she knows she can live without a man even if she loves him.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 17 and am madly in love with a fellow about nine years my senior.

She Married an Average Man

By ZOE BECKLEY.

Something made me stop at the Wyeth's this afternoon and I had parcel posted my box to Eric Sands at the French military hospital. I believe I longed for a talk with that strange man who was sitting still, stopping there with her end of a son.

Jim is right. Women's motives are complex, even when they don't mean them to be. I was restless and blue, and I suppose I was just taken out of myself by Mrs. Haas's cheerful, cynical chatter. Possibly I longed to be backed up in this matter of wilful independence of mine—my sending the packet to Eric, of which my husband does not approve. Possibly I wanted to hear that New York, where we are to live soon after the opening of the new year.

I have always wondered if there was a Mr. Haas. Today my doubt was settled.

"I'm so glad to see you, my dear," said Mrs. Haas—her first name is Athena, and somehow it suits her. "Just got a letter from my husband, and I shall have to be going home."

"He's not ill, is he?"
"Oh, mercy!" He's just home, that's all. He comes home so seldom I make sort of an affair of it. He has his place and I have mine. It's a novelty for him. Haas, you know, he's been in Scotland four months."

"Don't mind her, Ann," broke in Mrs. Wyeth, suddenly surprised by my Athena's lot of radical ideas on marriage, but nobody follows them.

"It would be well if they did," retorted Mrs. Haas. "You won't find a happier couple anywhere than John and me. We don't see too much of each other. We always keep to ourselves. We are perfectly independent and we never meet except when we are at our host."

"All the trouble in the world, you know, comes from people trying to be together—parents and children, brothers and sisters, husbands and wives, couples and in-laws, friends and friends! Don't you agree with me? Just stop and think a moment."

She is a beautiful sort of a woman, elegant and kindhearted, cynical and sympathetic, wise and frank. She bows you off your feet, but she whisks you up.

"Does—does it always work—like everybody, I mean—all husbands and wives?"

"Of course not. No rule works for everybody. There are human vegetables—people without temperaments. You'll find good ones for them."

Couples that are content merely to eat, wear clothes and talk about the weather are just as well off in each other's company as any couple else. There are folks who actually are miserable, unless they're with some one. I once knew a woman who had her mother come in and read or chat to her when she was taking a bath because she couldn't bear to be alone so long. Such persons have no resources within themselves.

"But if you're constantly working and living and growing and changing you can't always be presentable. Your mind goes into negligence, so to speak. Your temper puts on curl-papers. Your spirit wears a kimonos. You should always have a place to retire and stay alone in while you are at work or when you are primping up your spiritual self. And every woman should have some work, you know. It's all quite simple. Really don't see there's any argument."

Well, she certainly made me think, did Athena Haas, and put a stop to my moping over Eric Sands.

England's New Musical Genius is Young Girl

London—England has discovered a musical genius in Miss Dorothy Howell, aged 21, whose symphonic poem, "Lamie," has just been produced at Queen's Hall. Music critics have hailed her as the "English Strauss."

Her artistic talent manifested itself from her childhood, and her musical composition is now her one interest in life. She has 160 compositions to her credit, including works for piano, voice, and orchestra. She is a native of Birmingham.

The Gazette has a few more $10 soldiers' bonus blanks which may be obtained by calling at the office or writing and enclosing a two-cent stamp.

BLACK BRAID SETS OFF THIS SUIT OF BLUE TINSELTON

By LOUISE

Women are going to like the new winter suits for unlike those of many seasons, the suits for the coming winter are built for cold weather. They are made of such heavy materials as wool velvet, peachblow, tinselton, divinity, duvet de laine, radiol and chevron. Our trimming is not as popular as it has been, one reason being the scarcity of pelts and the exorbitant price. Fur collars, however, are much used and are built for practical purposes, not for show, as the shawl collars of last year were.

Blue tinselton cut on a unusual lines fashion this delightful street suit. The skirt is plain and rather short, while the coat is long and prettily trimmed in black braid.

Smart touch is added by the high, close-fitting collar, which marks the fashionable suits this year. The coat is cut slightly longer in the back than in front and a narrow belt, double in the front, marks the waistline. A hat of panne velvet with a feather fancy completes the outfit.

RELAXING TO THE WEATHER.

There's one grand thing about this business of relaxing. You can apply the principle that governs it to so many phases of life.

For instance, you can relax to the weather.

Have you ever noticed how much mental energy people use up on the weather. When we have a rainy spell of three or four days, how many people get to feeling that they can't be at ease in their minds till it clears up. "Oh, dear, it's raining again!" they say gloomily when they wake up to find it still pouring or "I feel as if I should scream if the sun didn't come out!" or "This is the third day it has come out! It seems as if it must clear off tomorrow."

How They Push Against the Rain. Can't you feel the sense of pushing and straining mentally in each of these sentences? And what a waste of energy it is!

Wouldn't all those people be better off if they simply put their minds at rest when it got ready to clear off? It would clear off; that there wasn't any way they could hurry it; that after all it didn't make the slightest difference to them (of course, I do not refer to the cases where rain definitely interferes with some plans) and they might as well relax their attention, think about something else, and let the Lord attend to the weather.

"The Wind Makes Me So Nervous." Then there are the people who dearest wind and who have to make a certain amount of fuss when the wind blows. I do not mean merely that they object to walking against the wind. That is tiresome, of course, though one does not gain anything by adding to one's physical burden the mental burden of a detestation; but even when they are inside a house and the wind is outside these people fuss about it. "I hate to hear the blundering of the wind," "The wind makes me so nervous," "Meanwhile, the wind blows where it listeth, and the only way to get the better of it is to let it and forget it—in other words, relax to it."

No One Can Hurt You but Yourself. "No one can really hurt you but yourself." When I was a child a wise old philosopher (who happened also to be a shoemaker) said that to me. It meant but little at the time. It comes to mean more every year.

No one but yourself can prevent your relaxing to the majority of life's annoyances. No one but yourself can give the weather power to annoy you. Will you hand over that power or will you make up your mind to let the weather do what it will, while you relax?

"Taint no use to grumble and complain. It's just as cheap and easy to rejoice. When God sorts out the weather and sends rain—Why rain's my choice."

—James Whitcomb Riley.

In each pepper: One tablespoon of cream sauce, one tablespoon of fine crumbs, one egg, one egg.

Cover with cream sauce and then with fine crumbs and place in the oven and bake for 20 minutes. Just five minutes before removing place a strip of bacon on top of each pepper and serve with cream sauce.

GOOD RECIPES.

Veal Pot Pie—Have the butcher cut one and one-quarter pounds of veal for stewing and then wash quickly and place in a saucepan and add three cups of boiling water, two onions, one carrot of soup herbs.

Bring to a boil and cook slowly until tender, usually about one and one-quarter hours. Now lift meat and place in a baking dish and thicken the gravy. Season and add four large potatoes cut in half and parboiled, four tablespoons of finely minced parsley, one-half teaspoon of thyme, two tablespoons of salt, one teaspoon of paprika.

Stix well and then cover with a crust of plain pastry and bake in a slow oven 45 minutes.

Graham Bread—One cup sour milk or buttermilk, one teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon salt, three-quarters cup sugar (scented), one tablespoon molasses, 11 tablespoons graham flour, three tablespoons cornmeal. Let stand half an hour. Bake in slow oven.

Frozen Pudding—The following is a pretty golden dessert: Put one pint of whole milk on a slow fire. The yolks of three eggs, three tablespoons of sugar and a teaspoon of cornstarch thoroughly. First add a little cold milk to this mixture and then pour slowly into warm milk, stirring constantly.

Continue stirring until it shows signs of cooking and begins to thicken slightly.

When cool add the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs and flavor with vanilla. Pour into two cocoa cans and pack tight in chopped ice and salt. Let freeze for several hours or longer if necessary, to form bricks. Serve in slices.

Many fruit flavors are more imitations. They call them "re-inforced."

In Jiffy-Jell desserts the flavors come in liquid form. In vials. There's a bottle in each package.

The flavors are made by crushing fresh, ripe fruit. They are fruit-juice essences condensed.

You serve real fruit when you serve Jiffy-Jell. You get the delights and the healthfulness of fruit. And people need fruit daily.

But these bottled fruit flavors are found in Jiffy-Jell only. To get them you must ask for Jiffy-Jell and look for that name on the package. There are other desserts which sound like Jiffy-Jell, but they do not have these flavors.

THE WISHING PLANE

When Jack and Jane looked back from the stern window and saw Captain Bravo and Ladydear were being attacked by the band of bad looking men they started running toward them—Jack because he knew he ought to help Captain Bravo and Jane because she could not bear to see Ladydear hurt. But the children hadn't taken two steps before they were picked up, just as I told you, and carried into the nearby doorway. Jack and Jane did just what you would do if someone tried to carry you away from mother or father. They kicked and screamed with all their might. Jack struck with his fist just as hard as he could. But the big men paid no attention to not and us or you until we're ready to let him." Jane was holding tight to Jack and crying. Jack tried to be brave as long as he could and then he, too, cried. "I wish Captain Bravo and Ladydear were here," sobbed Jane. "I do, too," said Jack. And then he wondered what Captain Bravo would do if he were in Jack's place. "I know he wouldn't cry," thought Jack. "I'd try to be brave and cheer up Ladydear ever if there didn't seem to be any chance of getting away." So Jack stopped crying and found his handkerchief and dried Jane's tears for her. "We'll just have to wait for Captain Bravo to come for us. He'll be here in a little while, I'm sure," said Jack. "They'll tell the police and send word to Signor Angelo. Before you know it they'll come riding up here in one of Signor Angelo's big autos with policemen in it, arrest these men and take us back to the hotel." But when the afternoon went by and the children saw through a tiny window in one of the cellars that it was getting dark outside it was pretty hard work to make them believe that everything would come out all right.

WHO'S WHO in the Daily News

HUSSEIN, KING OF THE HEDJAZ. Hussein, King of the Hedjaz, a friend and ally of the British, may soon assume the dignity of Caliph of Islam.

It was in 1517 that the Ottoman sultan, Selim I, conquered Egypt and overthrew the last of the Fatimid califs. Having seized the calif's person he arrogantly declared the sanctity of the califate to have passed to himself. Because he was all powerful in the Muslim world Selim's claim was generally recognized, and all his successors have been recognized as califs by the great majority of Mohammedans throughout the world.

This has been a great asset to the Turkish sultans. As much by their assumption of spiritual supremacy as by the might of their temporal power the Ottoman rulers have retained their ascendancy over their non-Turkish Muslim subjects. The calif is the successor of the prophet Mohammed. For a time the califate remained in the family of Mohammed. The Ottomans were not of the family of the prophet, but the Abbassides, who succeeded the Ommyads and who made Baghdad their capital, but were descended from Mohammed's uncle. When the line of Abbassides was extinguished by the Mongel hordes a Fatimite califate was set up at Cairo, the califs claiming descent from the daughter of the prophet. After the Egyptian califate was wiped out by Selim there was no further claim of relationship. The Turkish sultans have been califs by right of conquest and because of their position as the mightiest temporal potentates of the Moslem world.

Now it seems likely that the califate is about to pass from the Turks. After 400 years of almost undisputed spiritual supremacy the Turks are confronted by a rival whose claim is far better than the claim of the sultan. The King of the Hedjaz, who has won his complete independence, claims direct descent from Mohammed, and his claim is on altogether preposterous. At least he is an Arab, as was Mohammed, while the sultan is a Turk, a barbarian as measured by Arab standards, a member of a race always loathed by the people of Mohammed. The King of the Hedjaz was, before the beginning of his successful life, the sheriff of Mecca, the guardian of the holy cities. He had little temporal authority and was contemptuously regarded by the Turks as a mere puppet. Now he is a king whose territory promises to be greater than that of the sultan. And he is, unquestionably, a holy man, even though his claim to direct descent from the family of the prophet may be somewhat dubious.

The non-Arabic Turks seized the califate 400 years ago and the Moslem world made little protest. The Arab sultan, however, has made the spiritual supremacy and to establish the spiritual capital at Mecca should be no difficult task. It would surely make for the advancement of Islam and the betterment of the Mohammedan peoples, for the King of the Hedjaz is a man of enlightenment, though a strict and pious Moslem.

GETTING STRIKE FEVER. New York—The strike virus is affecting the handbook assistants of the Empire city, the allies of betting commissioners who lead the sheep to the shearing. A walkout of burglars would now seem to be a not impossible event. The handbook men demand a larger share of the betting commissions, winnings and a more definite establishment of each commissioner's territory. They have made no demands for shorter hours. Betting commissioners win 90 percent of the bets placed with them. The handbook men want a slice of this. The territory in which a commissioner operates has not been definitely fixed, hence many battles have been fought between rival firms. The handbook men want the realm of each commissioner surveyed and definitely established. Otherwise they say they will strike, and then what will the city do?

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

Down in the Tarrant county courthouse in Fort Worth, Texas, there is a black-haired, vivacious young woman who holds the office of county treasurer. Whose she was elected recently by a large majority, the treasurer's office had a woman in charge for the first time in its history and the stationery had to be printed with a Miss on it.

(Miss) Miss Redmond, County Treasurer, is the way the letter head reads. Miss Redmond, who was born and raised in Texas, started out for herself when she was very young. She took a short stenographic course and then started to work for a firm of lawyers. She was ambitious and she believed that women could do things as well as men and so she studied law during all her spare moments. In her own words she believed there were many opportunities for women in public life and so she made the race for county treasurer. She was elected but continued her study of law and was admitted to the bar last summer.

Now Miss Redmond intends, when her public career is ended, to take up the practice of law.

From my experience and observation in a law office I have found that the field is one that is not only fascinating because of the work itself but is appealing in that there is so much opportunity to do good and to bring sunshine where shadows have prevailed. This is what has appealed largely to me and has served to determine my course in choosing this profession," said Miss Redmond in speaking of her plans for the future.

Miss Redmond is also a firm believer in the good that women can do in politics and in public offices and believes that the prejudice against them will soon be overcome.

IS YOUR SKIN ABLAZE WITH FIERY ITCHINGS?

Don't Continue to Suffer Because of Wrong Treatment.

If you are one of the thousands who are afflicted with any form of irritating skin disease, verily you know what real torture it means to lay awake at night, rubbing and scratching your raw and irritated skin, in a vain endeavor to get relief from the fiery burning.

Of course, the most serious phase of skin disease is the almost unbearable suffering caused by the fiery itching and irritation of the skin. In addition, the disease often causes unsightly roughness and discolorations, disfiguring and spoiling the complexion, and leaving its blighting marks in its wake. Many a beautiful skin has been marred by these disorders which first appeared as tiny red pimples.

At last science has determined the real source of all skin diseases, and with this enlightenment comes the reason why the prevailing treatment heretofore used has proven such a complete failure. It has been proven that impurities in the blood cause millions of tiny disease germs to set up their attack on the surface of the skin, and in the form of pimples, boils, scaly eruptions and itchy, burning irritations, begin their disfiguring and destructive work.

Being in the blood, these disease germs can be reached only through the blood, and local applications have no effect whatever. That is why salves, ointments, lotions, washes and other remedies applied to the skin can do no more than give merely temporary relief. Soon the fiery itching breaks out again, for such treatment cannot reach the source of the trouble.

If you want genuine relief from the tortures of skin diseases, lose no time in discarding all local remedies, and begin taking S. S. S. today. You will be delighted with the results, and when you are thoroughly rid of your trouble, you will praise the day you got on the right treatment. You can get S. S. S. at any drug store. Begin taking it today, and if you write to our physician he will gladly give you full instructions about your own case. Address Medical Director, 402 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. For 17 years he used these tablets (a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil) in his private practice with great success. They do all that calomel does but have no bad after effects. No pains, no griping, no injury to the gums or danger from acid foods—yet they stimulate the liver and bowels. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." Note how they clear clouded brain and perk up the spirits. 10c and 25c a box.

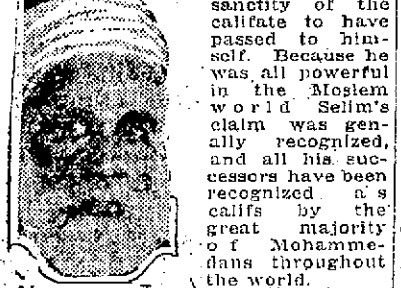

he rushed over to Jane and put his arms around her, just like a brother should do when his sister is in trouble. Then he turned to one of the men and said just as firmly as a frightened boy could: "You take us to Captain Bravo right away. If you don't he'll come and get us and shoot you down just as he did the enemy in the war."

The three men looked at each other with the most horrid grins on their faces that Jack and Jane ever had seen and then one of them said: "Don't worry. Captain Bravo will

WHICH CHURCH WILL WIN $3,000.00?

November 21st, 1919, at 6:00 P. M., some Church in Milwaukee or outside town will win $3,000.00 Cash or more as First Grand Prize in Manufacturers' $50,000.00 Advertising Campaign. Your guess is as good as ours. No one can say positively which Church of a hundred or more entered in the Campaign, will win.

Our guess is that the Church which first earns a Bonus of $1,000.00 or more will win the First Prize. This might not happen, however, if another Church making a strong finish should win a $1,000.00 Bonus with many additional multiples of Class "C", entitling them to a large number of Extra Points. It is also possible for some Church to make $1,000.00 in the next week or two, and then for some other Church to pass them by, winning $1,250.00 or $1,500.00 Cash Bonus, November 21, 1919.

Three Churches—Immanuel Reformed of Milwaukee, St. Mary's Catholic Church of Port Washington, and Holy Angels of West Bend have each pledged to purchase a $500.00 Cash Bonus. Immanuel Reformed has not only pledged, but has nearly completed the purchase of 39 Class "C" items which will entitle it to a $500.00 Cash Bonus.

According to the Final Point Schedule, it is of vital importance for Churches to complete their Class "C" and "D" requirements for 35 items before October 31, 1919, in order to secure the largest possible number of points to count for the big Prizes.

St. Mary's Catholic of Port Washington, and Holy Angels of West Bend have each pledged themselves to purchase a $500.00 Cash Bonus. When they complete these purchases they will be in close competition with the Leading Milwaukee Churches for the First Prize of $3,000.00.

Both Port Washington and West Bend have had good buying communities, and these towns, according to all reports, will back these churches, however, that such might possibly be the case, people in small towns all know each other and they can do wonders in six weeks of well organized effort.

NIMRODS TO OPEN DRIVE ON SMALL GAME TOMORROW

Jamesville hunters open their fall drive on rabbits, squirrels, and raccoons tomorrow morning, with the formal opening of the 1915 open season on these animals in Wisconsin. County Clerk Howard W. Lee reported a big rush for hunting licenses today and yesterday. A number of nimrods plan to hunt themselves to the woods tomorrow morning. No one can shoot or have in his possession more than five rabbits each day of the season, which extends from Oct. 16 to Jan. 16. There is no bag limit in Columbia, Crawford, Richland and Vernon counties, according to Mr. Lee. Rabbits may be sold and shipped if they are marked with the name and address of the shooter, and the number of the license contained is marked upon the package.

Squirrels may be shipped but may not be sold. The squirrel season opens Oct. 15 and closes April 1. They are protected in the following counties: Milwaukee, Waukesha, Racine, Kenosha, Ozaukee, Washington, Dodge, and Lincoln. The trapping season for muskrat opens Nov. 15 and closes April 1. Raccoon may be trapped or hunted from Oct. 16 to Jan. 1. The bag limit is one each day. Beaver and otter are protected the entire year, but beaver may be trapped under a special license issued by the conservation commission. Skins of beaver, not taken under a tag furnished by the commission, may be sold from Feb. 1 to March 31. No fur-bearing animals may be shot, but must be trapped and the trapper must have a trapper's license. The season for fisher, marten, skunk, and mink is from Nov. 15 to Feb. 1.

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS MAY BE SOLD SOON

If present plans do not miscarry, the St. Louis Cardinals may be sold the coming winter to two former American League owners. Negotiations are said to be on now in an informal way, with all actual bargaining set aside until some sort of basis is reached tentatively, at least regarding price, terms, leases and so on.

The prospective purchasers of the Cardinals property are Col. Hedges and James McAleer. Hedges was formerly the owner of the St. Louis Browns, while McAleer for a time was manager of Hedges' team. McAleer was later owner of the Boston Red Sox, disposing of his holdings in that club to Joe Lannan a few years ago. McAleer, since selling the Boston club, has been retired. The talk about Hedges and McAleer getting back into the major league was circulated at Cincinnati during the first two games of the world's series. McAleer admitted the truth of the report, but he added that he had not made up his mind definitely as to whether he wanted to return to the game. Hedges is said to have opened the subject. Meeting McAleer in the lobby of the Sinton hotel, the former Browns owner was enthusiastic. The St. Louis situation was discussed among other things and finally Hedges asked McAleer to go fifty-fifty with him in the deal. Speaking of the matter later Hedges declared, "We could take the St. Louis National club and put it over in good shape. I am sure I want McAleer with me. He has one of the best baseball minds in the country today and with some new life the Cardinals can be made a winner. I may have something to announce before the winter is over."

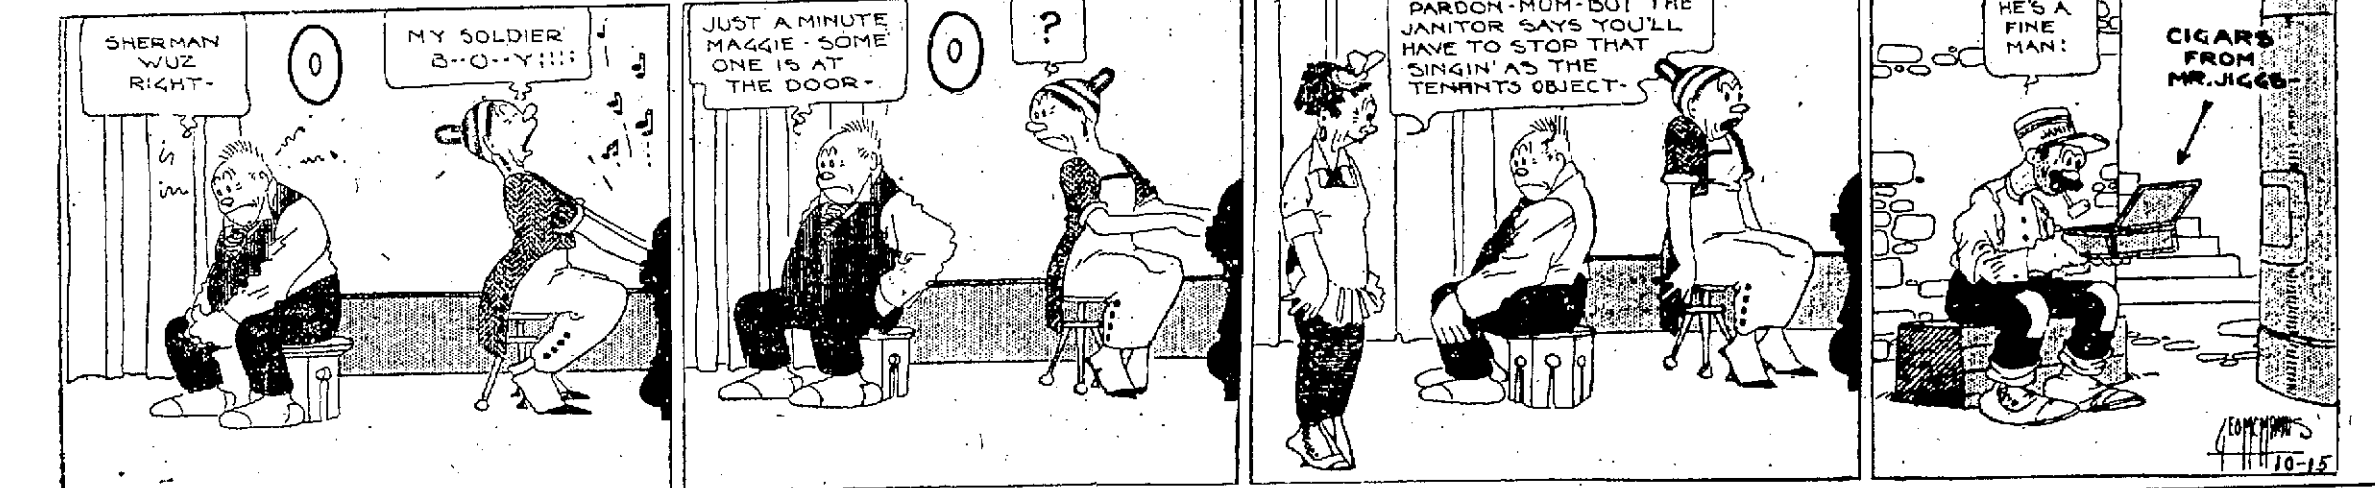

The National league would not doubt welcome McAleer and Hedges as they are both experienced baseball men of unquestioned standing. Their long association with the American league would help them to solve many problems, and a change of owners it is conceded would work no injury to the Branch Rickey squad after a fling at co-operative play which has so far failed to co-operate to any great extent. There was a rumor that McAleer would purchase an interest in the Washington club in the American league early in the winter, but this seems to have petered out entirely.

TOUGH SEASON FOR EBBETS; CLUB POOR, WIFE BRINGS SUIT

This has been a tough year for Charley Ebbets, owner of the Brooklyn National league club. With the pitching staff he had and the other stars his team included, Charley had hopes of at least being in the pennant fight up to his neck. He got it in the neck. The Dodgers will be lucky to finish in the first division. Now his wife has sued him for divorce. The Ebbets have had four children.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Orfordville News

Orfordville, Oct. 14.—Friday afternoon the Aid society of the Methodist church will give its annual supper. They will commence serving about 5 o'clock and continue until all are served.

T. E. Tollerud has purchased of Mrs. Louise Hamblett a strip of land at the south end of her property on Main street and will lay out a street in connection with the plat which he is having surveyed on the old Mow farm. The street will be laid connecting Main street and the town line.

A sidewalk is being laid on the south side of Belmont street, commencing at Girford street, and running in a westerly direction, with the intention of connecting with the walk at the business section of the village.

B. J. Taylor went to Brodhead Tuesday, where he received and loaded a carload of wheat.

E. J. Janda moved his household goods to Madison Wednesday, where he will make his home for the time being. His son is a student at the state university. Mr. Janda has purchased a piece of desirable property at the Capital city.

W. E. Richards, Postville, is in the village, spending a few days at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Frank Ashby.

Sent to Jail.

La Crosse.—Arthur Boy, who defrauded local merchants out of hundreds of dollars by means of forged checks, was sent to the county jail here Saturday for a term of one year. Sheriff Lund will hire him out, collect his wages and pay them to Boy's family.

MC GREGOR THE GREAT WINNER IN 2:14 TROT

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 15.—Yesterday's grand circuit racing at Ingle Wood track was signalized by a spectacular battle between Cox and Murphy, piloting respectively McGregor the Great and Marindale, for a purse of $2,600 in the 2:14 class trotting event, the main one on the card. The prisoners went to Cox in straight heats, second money going to Bettie Blacklock, piloted by Walker.

The other event yesterday was a 2:15 class trot in which only southern horses started and was won by Harry S., an Atlanta owned chestnut horse driven by Bartley. The track was heavy.

ST. PAUL EVENS UP SERIES WITH VERNON

Los Angeles, Oct. 15.—St. Paul yesterday evens up the series with Vernon for the Western Minor League championship, winning the sixth game, 6 to 0. Dick Niehaus pitched an even game throughout.

GOLDFISH WIN FIRST GAME FROM ANCIENTS

Dorrbaker's Old Timors fought gamely until the finish but were finally forced to accept defeat at the hands of the Goldfish at the Arcade alleys last night, by a margin of 143 pins. The fish, five roped, home with the lead in all three games although the Old Timors stood ready to take advantage of every break of the game.

Kirchoff lead the attack for the winners hitting 208 for high score while Cook followed him with 203. Dorrbaker was high man for the losers and also took high average honors in the bunch with scores of 190, 181 and 186 for an average of 189.

SPORT SNAP-SHOTS

BY JACK KEENE.

A series of international basketball games between French and American army teams will be played in France during the coming season, which opens early in December. Earl Brannon, the Y. M. C. A. regional athletic director in Germany, at a conference at St. Quilgars, athletic director of the French armies, arranged the preliminary details of the games. There will be no series for any international championship title, but the games will be played at Mayence, Wiesbaden and other towns in the French territory, and the tricolor teams will come into the American territory and play games at Neuweid, Nouenauur, Coblenz and other places to be designated.

Then French army has adopted basketball as an official army sport and the soldiers of France are making rapid progress in mastering the finer points of the game. France was represented by a good team in the interallied games and in the United States in the title games. The men have shown considerable improvement since the interallied games and are anxious to meet the American teams for the purpose of getting more experience at the sport.

Major Frank Cavanaugh, who in his years of coaching at Dartmouth contributed much to the positive good of intercollegiate football and who fought nobly the battles of his country in the world war, has become an author. His "Inside Football," published by Small, Maynard & Co., is a welcome and worthy contribution to the literature of the gripping sport of autumn. It takes its place with "Winners" and "Notes for Players and Coaches," and the works of Dr. Harry L. Williams, coach of the University of Minnesota, in the executive upon the technical points of the sport and is as pleasingly written as "Big Bill Edwards' Football Days."

Major Cavanaugh wrote his book while he was overseas in the service of his country. During the ragged summer and early autumn of 1918 he directed the attack of an artillery battery in hunting death and destruction into the strongholds of the Hun. When peace finally came Cavanaugh's fancy quickly turned to thoughts of football and so the work was done.

Like so many other former football players and coaches who got into the big game over there and won their letter, Cavanaugh discerned the similarity of football to warfare, and could trace the strategy of the gridiron through the maneuvers of bodies of troops. Surprising as it may seem, he declares that there is more intelligence in the worst played football game than in the most perfectly executed offensives in the army. He said, "Football is very like warfare, and warfare would be like football were there more intelligence in it. There is more intelligence in one football game, badly though it may be played, than there is in the whole war."

Had Charles Evans, Jr., been able to play the brand of golf at Brae Burn in the national open and amateur championships respectively that he displayed the other day at Edgewater in the annual My-Jinx tournament, he would probably have retained his title. His had rounds of 71 and 72 for a total of 143, twelve strokes better than Kewitson L. Ames, former Princeton football star, with 155. Ames needed 81 for the morning round, but came back strong in the afternoon with a 74, which left him in second place. "Chicks" brother, Ediot E. Evans finished third, with 156. Approximately $1,250 was raised for the Salvation army fund, for which the journey was staged.

Sometimes it takes a world series or something of the sort to bring out the true caliber of a ball player just as it takes the big moments of life to bring about the best—or the worst—in any one. Take, for instance, Ivy Wingo, the sorel topped, affable young man who has been backstopping around the National league for a matter of eight years or so. Ball players always have considered Ivy to be a mighty fine catcher, yet the general public never has fully accepted him as such. As a matter of fact he has never before shown to such good advantage as he has this year, and particularly in the big series was he a heroic figure. Wingo has many claims to recognition as one of the best catchers now in the game. He is a heady player, has a fine throwing arm, is a genius for handling pitchers, can hit the ball and, unlike most backstops, is fast on his feet. Fred Toney, a battery mate of Wingo's for several seasons, recently praised him most highly.

"I don't know as I ever have seen a catcher whose work I like better than Wingo's," said the Giants' big pitcher. "I know I never worked with one who handled my delivery so well. It is a real pleasure to work with him. He watches a pitcher so closely that after he has caught him for a while he gets to know what kind of a ball that pitcher is going to throw just by the way he starts his motion. I know he was that way with me. After we had worked together for a couple of seasons we'd go through a whole game without exchanging a signal. He'd know when a batter stepped up to the plate what kind of a ball I'd pitch to him and he'd be all set for it. The only time he'd be in any doubt would be when the batter was a newcomer in the league.

Another thing I like about him is that he is a hustler. He keeps a pitcher steppin' some in there, and he keeps the infielders on their toes, too. He always has his head up and it's very seldom that an opposing runner can put anything over on him. He's quite a ball player, I'll say."

Ivy surely held as well as even his most ardent admirers thought he would in the series with the Sox. His handling of Walter Ruetheer and of Jimmy Ring was excellent. He was particularly efficacious in the case of Ring, for he alone steadied the Flatbush youth at a most critical stage of the game, when it seemed that Jimmy might bring about his down downfall because of a momentary inability to control the ball. Offensively, he came through in fine style.

Actual photograph of Carl A. Timm's furniture truck with its business-getting, money-saving Goodyear Cord Pneumatic Truck Tires

Why Mr. Carl A. Timm Runs a Pneumatic-Tired Business

"I have my truck which I use for transfer work equipped with Goodyear Pneumatic Truck Tires, for they are the most economical equipment in the long run. The Pneumatics are quite an assistance to me in my business, inasmuch as I advertise that we haul our loads on air and eliminate all possible breakage. Since I have used these tires I have noticed quite a saving in gasoline and oil, quite an addition in the traction afforded to the truck and a great increase in speed without any serious wear on the truck."—Carl A. Timm.

MR. TIMM has a decidedly good reason for using Goodyear Cord Pneumatic Truck Tire equipment—his customers like them!

It's only natural that these customers want to have their furniture and such handled gently. Mr. Timm believed pneumatic tires would protect his furniture, cargoes and the truck itself from numerous jars—he had us apply the big cords—and his recent experience has proved their cushioning advantages.

More than that, his gasoline and oil bills have been appreciably reduced. The big Goodyear Cords have given a better grip on slippery and rough surfaces.

He has been able to cover more ground without any serious wear on the truck.

Whether or not you, if a truck owner, can use Pneumatics to advantage depends on your hauling conditions. Our careful analysis of your loads, roads, and daily mileage might show Goodyear Solids or perhaps Cushion Tires were well fitted.

But back of every Goodyear Truck Tire—Solid, Cushion or Pneumatic—is our complete Goodyear Service aiming at every reduction in truck costs possible.

However, the savings Goodyear Truck Tires and our Service have effected for others do not profit you a penny. Apply the lesson to your own truck.

Professor H. Strauss, M. D., of the Royal Charity Hospital, says: "The cause of an attack of gout, rheumatism, lumbago, is supplied by the increase of uric acid in the blood serum, the result of various causes, the most frequent of which is renal. Before an attack, one suffers some times from headache, neuralgia, twinges of pain here and there. When your kidneys feel like lumps or lead, when the back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; when you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatic pains or lumbago, gout, sciatica when the weather is bad, do not neglect the warning, but try simple means. Take six or eight glasses of water during the day, then obtain at your nearest drug store 'An-uric' (anti-uric acid). This is the discovery of Dr. Pierce of the 'Invalide', Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. 'An-uric' is an antidote for this uric acid poisoning and dissolves uric acid in the body much as hot coffee dissolves sugar. 'An-uric' will penetrate into the joints and muscles, and dissolve the poisonous accumulations. It will stamp out toxins. Send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce's Invalide's Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package.

THE ROMANCE OF TRUE STORIES OF SUCCESSFUL WOMEN

Shirley Foster, like all of the other young daughters of Unionville's Four Hundred, was sent to an exclusive finishing school and came home a few years wiser, with a little less color in her cheeks, but a perfect knowledge of proper drawing-room etiquette, three good ways to make fudge, a well-trimmed suit of clothes, and an unlimited income, and a host of friends. She was one of those pretty, curly-haired blond types who look as if they were just made to wear soft flimsy dance frocks and giggle and chatter over the tea cups.

After a year at home Shirley had a nervous breakdown. Her family which filled her last year at school and they were sure that the doctor would prescribe a long rest at the seashore or in the mountains. The doctor had very different thoughts, however. He was of the opinion that Shirley did not have half enough to do and he sent her to find a home to keep her busy for so many of the 24 hours that she would have to sleep the remaining ones.

Peggy's Plan.
It was hard to find the proper thing to do. Shirley thought of social welfare work but the slums of the town scarcely kept the good women of the different churches busy. Shirley did not have half enough to do and she was not trained along any line which would help her get into one of the offices, and besides that was not done by young society girls and she was not master of any subject enough to tutor some of the backward children of the town. There seemed to be no way for her to do. Then her maid, Peggy, came to the front with a suggestion. Peggy had been reading stories and she had visited the famous village in New York and so with great enthusiasm she suggested that Shirley start a tea room. It was such a simple thing, she said, and Shirley, who was running a simple to Shirley and before Peggy could finish her minute description of the Kerner Kitchen where she had once worked, Shirley was hurrying home to tell her family of the tea room she was going to start.

Dinner Stories

He was a perfect wonder, was the parliamentary candidate for a certain agricultural district. And he was never shy of telling the voters why they should return him as their M.P.

"I am a practical farmer," said he, boastfully at one meeting. "I can plow, reap, mow, sow, work a chaff cutter, shoe a horse—in fact, I went on proudly, 'I should like you to tell me any one thing about a farm which I cannot do.'"

There was an impressive silence, a small voice asked from the back of the crowd:

"Can you lay an egg?"

"You've heard about the stern father who told his daughter's company it was time to go home," said Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, Ark.

"Maybe it used to work all right in some localities, but I rather night when Zanzibar and Balm had couple of young fellows calling on 'em. I goes in at 10 o'clock and tells 'em it's time to tear out. And I'll burbure if them young gents didn't push onto me, slap me around right sharply and tell me it was time to get out of there and leave 'em be, and them two outrageous daughters of mine stood by and howled the secondaries on!"

Now that the nation is dry, an enterprising demagogue has compiled the following for the benefit of summer vacationists: Rye, N. Y.; Bourbon, Ill.; Green River, Ky.; Sligo, Mo.; Champaign, Ill.; Brady, Kan.; Brandy, Pa.; Camp, Pa.; Brandt, City, Cal.; Port, Okla.; Sherry, Tex.; Brandwine, W. Va.; Ginn, Miss.; Wine, Va.; Tank, Pa.; Boose, Tenn.; Drinker, Pa.; Aqua, Va.; Vichy, Mo.; and Litha, Pa. Take your choice.

—and hardly heavier than a happy thought. But it has the warmth—one of those chummy, warmth-without-weight creations so nice to have along, no matter what unexpected capers the thermometer may cut.

Of a truth, the "Huddler" is a coat that every man should have on an easy-to-get-at hook in his wardrobe, even though he has a storm-defyer for long stretches of snarly weather. It's dressy enough for anywhere, just right for between-office-and-home wear and a jolly good traveling companion. Comes in a pleasing lot of fabrics and color effects appropriate to its smart lines.

Please keep in mind that, while this coat is light in weight, its crisp style is made in by Society Brand tailoring, which insures permanent good looks. Ordinary light weight coats often sag into monstrosities with their own weight. The Huddler is permanently styled.

This is the Overcoat Store

Society Brand has done a lot of masterpieces in Overcoats for this Fall. Come in and take a look at them. Some light in weight, some 'twixt and between, others big collared, belted-waist, shoe-top length, that just look like they were eager to wrap themselves around you and take you out into a whirlwind of freeze to show you how snug and warm they can keep your body. Never mind prices—you'll approve them when you've examined the coats.

11 EGGS A DAY FROM 17 YOUNG PULLETS

Mrs. Niles Started Her Pullets Laying at 6-30thth Old. Tells How.

"Early in November, I bought a package of Don Sung and started giving it to 17 May pullets. In the first 30 days, they laid 158 lovely eggs, and I got 5 cents apiece for them. All through December, I got it to 13 eggs a day."—Mrs. E. S. Niles, R. F. D. 2, Lucerne, Ind.

Mrs. Niles, like thousands of others, has found how to start young pullets laying and keep them laying all winter. The same method gets the eggs from moulting hens. Whether or not this seems possible to you, try this plan at our risk.

Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us and your money will be promptly refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) works directly on the egg-laying organs and is also a splendid tonic. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health, makes her stronger and more active in any weather, helps her through the moult, and starts her laying.

Try Don Sung for 30 days and if it doesn't get you the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather, your money will be refunded by return mail. Get Don Sung from your druggist or poultry remedy dealer or send 50 cents for a package by mail prepaid. Burritt-Durgen Co., 249 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Oct. 14.—Home Buyers, Speculators and Gamblers:
I thank you kindly to read this article carefully and then think.
The word Speculator sounds very nice, the word gambler may hit the point, because I honestly believe they outnumber the balance of the population.
Many of them gamble in oil, coal and lead mines, something in which there is a great chance and they have to dig clear to it—to get it. Therefore let me call your attention to the fact that there is a large number of small speculations here in Janesville, that are right on the top of the ground, that you can see with your own eyes and where you can make from twenty to fifty percent on your investment inside of two months. I would like to make anyone, interested in this article, my client because it means money for both of us. I am in the business to make money for myself and for my clients and will gladly call on you by request after office hours or make special appointment at my office. Kindly watch my classified ads.

Thank you for reading.

Announcing the CLEVELAND SIX $1385

THE new Cleveland Six is here, the car that automobile dealers have been waiting for and talking about for two years past. It is the 1919 achievement of motordom, bringing new qualities, new ideals, new excellence into the light-car field and at a price which will please countless thousands who care for the better things of life.

You will admire and wonder at this new car, for the industry has offered no other like it. You will be delighted with its grace and style. You will marvel at its power and speed and quietness and comfort. Truly here is the car that will dominate the whole light-car field.

Skill and Sincerity are Built into This Car

The Cleveland Six is the product of men splendidly experienced in the design and making of fine cars, men who have contributed their genius and skill and sincerity to the building up of one of America's finest high-quality cars. So the Cleveland is an expression of the best ideals for service to the world, dependable service of transportation and recreation. It is a really unusual car. It brings genuine motoring satisfaction within reach of thousands who have wanted such a car. It brings new motor-car quality at a low price.

Test Cars on the Road Three Years

The Cleveland is a finished product. There is no suggestion of the experimental about it. It is new to the public, but to the men who conceived it and developed it the Cleveland is a perfected car.

Cleveland Sixes have been on the road for three years, undergoing every conceivable test for performance and endurance. Two years ago the car was ready for production. But the war was coming, and the Cleveland waited.

Today, in a splendid new plant, the very last word in modern equipment and method, this car is built for you. Managing this great plant, directing all its various departments and guarding every operation, is a group of men whose sincerity of purpose is a guarantee of excellence in their car.

Powerful, Sturdy and Simple

Mechanically, the Cleveland Six is of extraordinary sturdiness and simplicity throughout. It is distinctive. It has refinement of construction not commonly found in low-priced cars.

The wheel-base is more than ample to permit of the most pleasing body designs and to provide seating capacity for five adult persons in the very extreme of comfort, with proper pitch of cushions and lots of leg-room.

Power? There is power to spare in the Cleveland Six. Power that takes the loaded car flying over the hills, and at any speed that anyone would wish over the country road and open highway. Power so flexible, so responsive to the slightest touch of the throttle, that those of us who have driven many cars know there are few motors indeed that compare with it at all.

And this motor is in no other car. It is the exclusive Cleveland Six motor, designed by engineers of the Cleveland Company and built under their supervision in the Cleveland factory.

Your Own Choice of Four Beautiful Bodies

The Cleveland Six will please you. The body designs and furnishings of the handsome touring car, the snappy single-seat roadster, and the two splendid closed car models, are worthy of the mechanical excellence of the car. In some one of these four models you find your car.
